ACADEMIA AND TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Instructor

ECD 642 Practicum in Counseling

North Carolina State University, January 2016 – May 2016

Course Description

This course requires student participation in individual and group counseling and consultation experiences under supervision in a school, college or agency setting.

General Information

This course is the third component of the Department's clinical experience sequence in the application of counseling theory. The course is a supervised practicum experience offered in several individual seminar sections which focus on case conceptualization, client assessment and evaluation, oral and written case reporting, and the overall evaluation of counseling performance in individual and group interventions. The purpose of this course is to provide participants with the opportunity to further develop their skills in individual counseling, group work, and consultation while under direct supervision.

Co-Instructor

ECD 510 Orientation to Counseling Profession

North Carolina State University, May 2016 – June 2016

Course Description

This course examines each of the following: (1) the purpose of counseling, (2) the historical context for counseling, (3) the basic principles of major counseling theories, and (4) the practice of counseling in various professional settings. The course will be offered in a hybrid format, with online instruction meetings and face-to-face instruction noted on “Tentative Learning Schedule.”

General Information

The course integrates the use of face-to-face instructions and online instructions, which includes narrated presentations, digital film demonstrations, student-teacher interactions through face-to-face meetings, and assignments, both online and during on campus instruction. This course is demanding given the hybrid nature (i.e., face-to-face and online components) and 5 week duration of the course.

Responsibilities

- Developed and set-up online components of course via Blackboard Collaborate
- Created assessments, weekly reflections and information portals for students to participate in the online forums
- Developed lesson plans and lecture PowerPoint slides
- Developed and set-up assessments and electronic scoring via online platform
- Provided course feedback on assignment submissions
- Instructed face-to-face meetings
- Corresponded with students electronically, face-to-face and via phone regarding course materials, tests, projects and addressed any other questions or concerns
